About the artists

Regina Carter and Helen Sung: Regina Carter is quite a rarity in jazz – she plays jazz violin. The violin is associated with classical music, of which, Regina has been a student. She played violin with the youth section of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and has taken lessons from the legendary Yehudi Menuhin and Itzhak Perlman. Carter started playing piano at age two and continued till school. Her music teacher suggested she try the violin and the jazz world is grateful for this tip. Carter not only plays sensitive ballads and standards in jazz, she swings the music in its finest tradition. She will be accompanied on piano by Helen Sung, who is among the foremost young jazz pianists today. She is a graduate from the Thelonius Monk Institute of Jazz, has toured India along with Herbie Hancock and has also led a band at Jus’ Jazz 2012. Benjamin Williams and Rodney Green Jr. on drums complete the rhythm section.

Renee Rosnes is a jazz pianist who has received much critical acclaim in jazz circles. She resides and plays in New York, the cauldron of contemporary jazz. Rosnes is a composer, arranger and a fluent hard bop pianist.

True School Manhattan Six Band comprises of alumni of The Manhattan School of Music, New York. With Pawan Benjamin on the saxophone, Jeffery Koch on bass, Sean Richey on guitar, Philippe Lemm on drums, Angelo Di Loreto on keyboards and vocalist Andrea Wood, the sextet produces remarkable symphonies.

Houston Person is veteran American saxophonist. He is a traditionalist with a deep respect for blues and has a tremendous track record. His several recordings with Etta Jones have been very popular with aficionados. He will play well-known ballads and standards in the company of John di Martino on piano, Matthew Parish on double bass and Chip White on drums.

Igor Butman is Russia's finest saxophone player, Igor Butman will bring a part of his famous big band. Playing tenor, Butman will be accompanied by Anton Baronin on piano, Vitaly Solomonov on bass and Eduard Zizak on drums. The sensational jazz vocalist Fantine Prituola completes the group. Prituola is a versatile performer who is equally comfortable and proficient at performing jazz standards, bossa novas and up tempo blues.

The James and Wes Legacy Band: In the famous footsteps of jazz organist Jimmy Smith and guitar genius Wes Montgomery comes a group from Japan. Led by organist Junichi Naruse on jazz organ, this band might be the surprise at the festival. Naruse is accompanied by acoustic guitarist Hideyaki Tokunaga who, interestingly, uses his thumb to strum the guitar, much in the style of Wes Montgomery. Drummer Benny Soans and a saxophonist complete this quartet. Expect a foot-tapping, finger-snapping set from this group.
